

The orphan girl shrieks in pain
It all seems in vain

The world watches in horror
But does not move a finger

“Wake up world” I want to scream
But it seems you persist to dream

The world is losing hope in humanity
And we are turning more to the Almighty

Amidst the chaos
We draw strength from our ethos

Your bombs grow louder and louder
Our prayers dig deeper and deeper

Hold on tight to Him
His Might surpasses everything

You make a spectacle of their misery
He will make you an example for history

O, how swiftly you forget your story
Don't worry, Pharaoh will refresh your memory
